EDITOR'S MESSAGE

As we bid fond farewell to A.H.S., we take with us memories of our Green Years—the transitional years to adulthood, the decisive years of our future. It is hoped that the memories of the dances, studies, games, classes, rallies, and parties will not fade. Long after that day when we depart from these halls of learning with diploma in hand and yearbook under arm, every now and then may this treasured volume help you recall the never-to-be-forgotten past.

MR. HERBERT W. DeVEBER
Principal

Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "For men graduate their respect, not by the secret wealth, but by the outward use; not by the power to understand, but by the power to act."

All above is in words. It is up to YOU to ACT.

Accomplishment is not an easy task. You must want to do it, and you must learn to organize your time and self to attain that goal. I ask these questions: Have you the imagination to project your thinking into the future? Are you strong enough to develop a sense of individuality? Do you possess a keen edged responsibility to yourself and your actions? Have you faith in yourself?

We realize the world is in an unsettled state. Many things have happened in recent months that might confuse our thinking; however, individually we must face our responsibilities to ourselves and our families, as well as to our country. In fact, do we not truly help our country as we meet these responsibilities?

You want to do certain worthwhile things. You deserve earned praise for your efforts. Your happiness is important to you and all those about you.

What is it you want from life?

Alice Freeman Palmer lists three rules for happiness: first, learn something useful everyday; second, see something beautiful everyday; third, do something helpful everyday. Visualize what you want. Be prepared to pay in service or goods for what you demand.

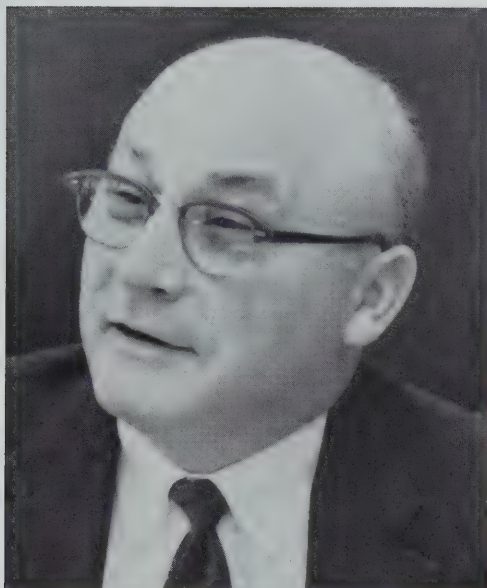

Make your own plan for these thoughts. List in careful order your steps of progress. Be sure to follow your plan, day by day, regardless of the day when one step does not seem to follow the other. You should accept the presence of both sunshine and rain. Your duty to yourself and others is respect for the elements and the hurdling of obstacles in your path.

Consider well your need to act now, and help yourself to attain the goals you have sighted. My thoughts and good wishes are with you.

MISS DAWN BAEHR

A MOMENT OF TRUTH

Man occasionally comes face to face with TRUTH in his journey through life. The dull-witted man rarely, if ever, recognizes the TRUTH; the sharp-witted man sometimes pauses to contemplate the TRUTH and marvel at its astounding implications. Here is a fundamental TRUTH to consider, "EACH MAN IS THE CREATOR OF HIS OWN DESTINY."

As a high school senior you are fast approaching maturity with its attendant responsibilities. If you accept the truth that you are responsible for your own future, you will examine the truths you know about yourself. You will relate these facts to the world of work and test plans of action for use in the most suitable area. As the truth about yourself and its tremendous potential fill your consciousness you should discover a burning desire to focus the full power of your capacities in truly creative living.

Recognition of your true self and the application of this knowledge will permit you to organize your abilities to perform efficiently and creatively as a worker, parent, wife or husband, citizen and neighbor. It will enable you to create a body, mind, and spirit powerful enough to mold history.

Dedication

There are few schools which have the good fortune of possessing one with the combined qualities of quick wit, athletic-enthusiasm, friendliness, and a knack for telling an endless number of stories, one who is a fine teacher and a fine man. For thirty years, Abington High School has had that good fortune, for its students and its faculty have had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Richard Morey, a rare man indeed. He is more than a teacher, a coach, and a friend, he is the living tradition of A.H.S.

We, the class of 1962, are proud to dedicate our Green Years to Mr. Richard Morey, whom we fondly respect.

Our freshman year, usually one of terror in Abington High, was spent in the security of the Junior High School. This was the second year that we had the opportunity to lord it over the unfortunate Class of '63. Our Frosh football team was almost undefeated, and many of our classmates never saw the light of day on school afternoons (what with detentions coming in twenty hour bunches). We bid fond farewell to our snug little haven with a buffet supper and a good-bye dance.

As sophomores we were greeted by the usual barrage of haircuts and handpainted ties for "Good Grooming Days." Our first class administration consisted of president, Peter Thorbahn, "veep" David Whiting, secretary, Lois Lemay, and treasurer, Pat Zawalich. The event of the year was our Sophomore Hop (the first successful dance at AHS since '76) with our mystery "d. j.," Tom Divoll. (Everybody was counting on "Woo Woo" Ginsberg.) The harrowing experience of the year, Dick Parsons' Latin II classes, along with two hour detention stints. As was expected, the sophomore girls deserted their classmates of the opposite sex for the senior boys, but the sophomore boys pulled the switch of the year by running after the senior girls. The year ended with the class outing at Morton's Park, where School years at AHS have ended since time immemorial.

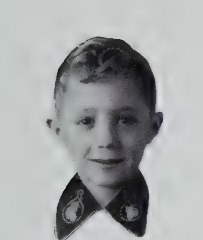

We outlived Freddie Renvyle and Sam Gregory and bid farewell to our principal Mr. Gianoulis who will long be remembered by the class of '62 for helping us through our most difficult year, and greeted our new principal from Bridgewater, Mr. DeVeber. We elected class officers Richard Poitras, president, James Anderson, vice-president, Lois Lemay, secretary, and Pat Zawalich, treasurer. Our supposedly juniors-only-parties turned into alumni reunions, and All Hallow's

Eve turned into an omelet.

Miss Roberta "French Class Can Be Interesting" Richmond's pink sweater did a disappearing act (thank's to Andy Cullen) and so did Miss Richmond at the end of the year. "Over the Rainbow," our Junior Prom, was an unforgettable night, in more than one way. Our class treasurer supplied us with two orchestras, and there was a conspiracy afoot by the tux committee to rent the tuxedos at Markey's. However, we decided to keep everything in the school system, and Bob Dennis supplied the music, and Linehan's supplied the tuxedos. Yet who of our members can forget the frantic decorating, Carol Anderson's party, and the bleary-eyed cleaning up Saturday morning? There was the debut on Boston Ballroom and the C.Y.O. Minstrel Show that broke all existing fire rules. We suffered through a year of Henry Wojnar and Cyrus Dubbins (or did they suffer through a year of us?) Otto Contardi, Dick Parsons, Gene MacAfee, Mr. Pike, among others left our ranks. We returned to Morton's Park, all in cars this time, for our last class outing. A few of our unredoubtable classmates, undaunted by eviction from the public beach, repaired to the opposite side of the pond to continue the festivities.

So it was in September of 1961, as the saying goes, the worm turned (many of the faculty members wondered what it turned into), and we, as seniors, came into our own. Our junior class officers were re-elected en mass, Lincoln Boulevard was redecorated in green, and an extension of Ray's Barber Shop was set up in second lunch. The football rallies brought a few raised eyebrows and a lot of raised voices to cheer our football team on to the best season since 1956. There were cold shoulders from the senior girls, Rockland ice cream parties, portable radios in study periods, poems at the Five, twisting when Mrs. Rosen wasn't looking, a re-appearance on Boston Ballroom, the Anti-John Birch League, the new Abhis, the new teachers, the all-senior parties, the freshman-senior parties, restrained basketball games, the last minute victory over Rockland, the Class Play, and a unanimous decision against dedicating the yearbook to Father Knickerbocker. These are only part of the list that could go on for days, the list of the happiness, and heartbreaks, achievements and failures. All these and much more would go into our class history, were it longer. We would rather like to think these things will remain in our memories and in our hearts, those green years that were and will always be ours, our years at Abington Senior High School.

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Two, being of sound mind and body, do hereby attest this to be our last will and testament.

To Mrs. Antonia Lee, we leave a steam and dry iron and a pair of matching black high heels.

To Mr. Comeau, we leave Fred Nadolny, the darling of third period study.

Bob Lynch leaves Tufts University to the Tufts Undergraduates.

Pat Zawalich leaves the basketball team to Mr. Hartwell, in hopes that he can carry on alone.

To Mr. Wojnar, we leave all the portable radios of the second period party.

Al Fitts leaves for parts unknown.

Carol Anderson leaves to a deserving junior girl her poise and grace.

To Mr. Murray, the senior boys leave all the cigarettes they gave up to pay class dues.

"Hot Lips" Trufant leaves Mr. Smith without a first trumpet.

To Mr. Scotti, homerooms 22 and 23 leave a gift certificate for soundproofing the girls' cafeteria.

To Miss Crooks, second lunch leaves one Chubby Checker album.

Peter Thorbahn leaves his egotism to anyone who wants it.

To Mr. Crowley, Norm Walsh leaves the Christmas present he never gave him.

Jennifer Bickford leaves Mrs. Rosen to Rose Connelly, Kenny Smith and John Gorman.

We leave Miss Hill still trying to get to the Middleboro game.

Martha Gannon, Jane Bulkowski, and Nancy Jefferson leave their ace bandages to all future candidates of Miss Crook's varsity squads.

Alan Miller leaves a 10x12 personally autographed, hand painted picture framed in gold of Alan Miller.

Andrea Parsons reluctantly leaves her job as Mr. Dennis' girl Friday to a future senior girl who likes running up and down stairs.

Ingrida Kraulitis leaves Mr. Rourke with a case of shattered nerves and a battered driver ed. car.

Linda Woodworth, Nancy Pihl, and Al Miller leave Mr. Divoll in peace.

Helena Kelliher leaves the Brigid Bardot look to the sophomore girls.

Richard Poitras leaves the problem to Robert Creutz, and we don't mean Sandy.

To Mr. Pastuzak, the senior members of the football team leave the junior and sophomore boys, in hopes `` he might be able to make them into a resemblance of a football team.

Warren Dahl leaves a trail of used cars behind him.

David Whiting leaves his speaker baffle to Dennis Cifelli.

Bob Libby leaves his copy of "How Not to Tell a Joke."

Jeanette Morse leaves some lucky junior girl with the task of taking attendance.

To Dedee Johnstone, Jane Greenlaw leaves her title as champion talker to the senior class.

To John Souza, the senior class leaves driving lessons.

Phil Peterson leaves the money he confiscated from the sale of class pins.

Sally Lydon leaves some of her hair to Mr. Lynch and a pair of scissors to Karen Snell.

We leave Mr. Murray still figuring out how we are going to pay for the yearbook.

Nancy Pihl leaves her oven-locker to a deserving junior who likes toasted cheese sandwiches.

George McGee leaves his solemn word he will never tell who was elected most popular and friendliest of the senior class.

Jim Anderson leaves his trot to next year's Latin IV class.

Mary Sullivan leaves her poem above the jukebox in the five.

The drill team leaves Rockland a gallon of half melted ice cream plus the cleaning bill for the uniforms.

To the Javee basketball team, we leave lots of luck.

Joe Pike and Ronny Harris leave a season pass to the Patriot's game to Mike MacDonough.

Jeannie Piper leaves everybody wondering how she did those splits.

Andy Cullen leaves the faculty breathing a little easier.

Tom Donovan leaves Pat Zawalich a book entitled, "How to Follow the Leader when You're Dancing."

To the Sophomore class the Senior class leaves the new high school we were supposed to graduate from.

Kathy Jenks leaves her knees exposed.

Finally, we leave Abington High with fond memories and half as much spirit as was created by the class of '62!

The 1962 Yearbook Staff is deeply grateful to the following parents, friends, and merchants for their unceasing co-operation and splendid support. Without such interest in the welfare of the school and the youth of the community, this publication would not be possible.
